The JTC agreed in principle to the proposals issued in the present document by the “Planning harmonisation” sub-working group, and in particular with regard to:

1. The new principle and the rules on harmonisation of pedagogical planning between the nursery, primary and secondary cycles (see points 2 and 3.1 to 3.4 in the document).
2. The kick-off of the second pilot phase in schools starting in February 2022, to get an optimal head start on rolling out the process for harmonisation of pedagogical planning, set to become mandatory in September 2023 (point 3.5 of the document).

The final procedural document, for its part, will be presented to the teaching committee meetings in February 2023, for final approval by the Joint Teaching Committee. This document will incorporate the various comments and findings from analysis of the second pilot phase and the analysis of the required implementation of inclusion of the eight key competences in annual pedagogical planning from September 2022. This final version of the document will also propose updates to the relevant documents and rules, for the approval of the JTC or the BoG (depending on the specific proposal), and for entry into force from September 2023.
