

Office of the Secretary general of the European Schools

Date of publication: 23/08/2022

Question n°1:

Regarding the « Technical and professional capacity » and more particularly regarding the declaration certifying that the employees have the requested level in the requested languages, is a company's statement certifying that its employees have that level enough? Or is it necessary to present the certificates of each employee?

Answer n°1

A company statement certifying that the employees have the required level is enough.