Syllabus for all L III languages

APPROVED BY THE JOINT TEACHING COMMITTEE ON 5 AND 6 OCTOBER 2011 IN BRUSSELS

Entry into force in September 2012 for cycle 1 and cycle 2 and in September 2013 for cycle 3.

Annexes APPROVED BY THE JOINT TEACHING COMMITTEE ON 13 AND 14 FEBRUARY 2014 IN BRUSSELS AND BY THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS ON 8-10 APRIL 2014 IN SOFIA

Entry in force in September 2014 for the 2015 Baccalaureate
1. Introduction:

The Working group “Standards in L III” continued its work with reference to the conclusions of the CIS meeting on 8 February 2011 (document 2010-D-49).

The Working Group has developed the syllabus for all L III languages.

The syllabus is based on the Common European Framework of Reference for the Teaching and Learning of Foreign Languages and the European Framework for Key Competences for Lifelong Learning.

The syllabus is based on expert advice and reflects in its objectives, content and methods a common, harmonised basis in the field of modern languages for the European Schools as already used by many national systems.

The framework is a part of the reform of the Baccalauréat. It meets the demands of former presidents of the BAC who repeatedly underlined the necessity of a common and harmonised design which would provide standards for all language programmes.

The syllabus focuses on the knowledge and the competences to be attained at the end of each cycle.

The syllabus includes general objectives, didactic principles, learning objectives, contents and assessment. It presents the linguistic items students will be expected to learn, and describe the knowledge and skills they will develop to be able to communicate effectively.

The structure of the syllabus is intentionally brief but is expanded through a commentary (annex). The Learning Gateway can provide a forum for additional guidelines, clarification or advice.

This syllabus is a harmonised syllabus for all L III languages. It will guarantee student equity in all L III languages and will increase opportunities for sharing good practice and professional expertise across language sections.

The syllabus for all L III languages will come into force in September 2012 for cycle 1 and cycle 2 and in September 2013 for cycle 3.

2. General objectives:

The secondary section of the European Schools has the two objectives of providing formal, subject-based education and of encouraging students’ personal development in a wider social and cultural context. Formal education involves the acquisition of knowledge and understanding, concepts and skills within each subject area. Personal development takes place in a range of spiritual, moral, social and cultural contexts. It involves an awareness of appropriate behaviour, an understanding of the environment in which students work and live, and a development of their individual identity.

These two objectives, which are in practice inseparable, are nurtured in the context of an enhanced awareness of the richness of European culture. Awareness and experience of a shared European life should lead students towards a greater respect for the traditions of each individual country and region in Europe, while developing and preserving their own national identities.
The students of the European Schools are future citizens of Europe and the world. As such, they need a range of competences if they are to meet the challenges of a rapidly-changing world. In 2006 the European Council and European Parliament adopted a European Framework for Key Competences for Lifelong Learning. It identifies eight key competences which all individuals need for personal fulfilment and development, for active citizenship, for social inclusion and for employment:

1. communication in the mother tongue
2. communication in foreign languages
3. mathematical competence and basic competences in science and technology
4. digital competence
5. learning to learn
6. social and civic competences
7. sense of initiative and entrepreneurship
8. cultural awareness and expression

The European Schools’ curriculum seeks to develop all of these key competences in the students. The language syllabuses make a significant contribution not only to the development of communicative competences, but also to social and civic competences and to the students’ cultural awareness and expression.

The study of an L III, ab initio, is compulsory for all secondary students from Year 1 to Year 5 and optional in Years 6 and 7. Students may choose any of the official languages of the European Union as L III, but the language chosen must be different from those studied as L I and L II.

The learning objectives up to the end of Year 5 are based on five years (two periods per week in Year 1 and three periods per week in Years 2 to 5) of continuous study of the language, and the objectives for the Baccalaureate are based on seven years of continuous study (four periods per week in Years 6 and 7).

The learning objectives are benchmarked against the reference levels of the Council of Europe’s Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

The CEFR also allows for intermediate levels, defined as A1+, A2+ etc:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Cycle</th>
<th>Attainment level</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1st cycle S 1 – S 3</td>
<td>Level A 1+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2nd cycle S 4+5</td>
<td>Level A 2+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3rd cycle S 6+7</td>
<td>Level B 1+</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For the learning and teaching of foreign languages in the system of the European Schools reference is made to the following CEFR benchmarks:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>L II</th>
<th>C1</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>L III</td>
<td>B1+</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L IV</td>
<td>A2+</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
3. Didactic principles:

The following didactic principles are intended to guide the teaching and learning of L III.

- Communicative language competence is an overarching learning goal.
- The skills of listening, reading, spoken interaction, spoken production and writing should have their place, but their relative weighting depends on the cycle.
- Teaching should take account of students’ progression through the various stages of language acquisition. Pupils’ mistakes should be used constructively to develop learning.
- In teaching, the target language should be used as much as possible.
- Students should be encouraged to draw on their existing language skills and learning strategies.
- A variety of teaching methods and approaches should be used.
- The use of differentiated teaching methodologies is encouraged in order to meet the diverse needs of all pupils.
- Pupils’ varied learning styles, pace of learning, social skills, strengths and weaknesses should also be used to best advantage.
- Pupils will achieve fluency and independence by making use of a range of learning resources including ICT (Information and Communication Technology).
- A good command of the language in context presupposes a progressively constructed understanding of the language as a system.
- Priority should be given to functionality when it comes to teaching grammar, morphology and vocabulary.
- Students’ sociolinguistic competence should be developed to include awareness of aspects such as linguistic register, language varieties, etc.

The above list is not exhaustive and not in order of importance.

4. Learning objectives:

Learning objectives for the 1\textsuperscript{st} cycle (S1-S3)
By the end of the first cycle, the student should be able to

1. understand familiar words and phrases related to areas of immediate personal relevance and experience when people speak slowly and clearly
2. read and understand short written texts containing familiar words and phrases
3. take part in simple conversations about areas of immediate need or on very familiar topics with some support
4. describe in simple terms his/her personal world with some reference to the past and future
5. write short simple messages, notes and letters about everyday matters
6. demonstrate basic knowledge and understanding of the cultures of the target language countries/communities
7. relate his/her acquired cultural knowledge to that of the target countries/communities
8. identify and apply a range of basic strategies for learning languages
9. apply a range of basic study skills and tools to the learning of the target language

Learning objectives for the 2\textsuperscript{nd} cycle (S4-S5)
By the end of the second cycle, the student should be able to

1. understand spoken standard speech related to personal experience and some topics of wider interest when the delivery is clear
2. read and pick out specific information in everyday written material and literary texts
3. take part in conversations and exchange information about familiar and more general topics
4. orally describe, in a coherent way, his/her experiences, hopes and plans and narrate a story or the plot of a book or film
5. write personal letters and simple coherent texts on topics concerning everyday matters, experiences and impressions
6. demonstrate some knowledge and understanding of the target language cultures including society, current affairs, literature and its context
7. know and use basic intercultural codes to interact appropriately with speakers of the target language
8. choose effective strategies to organise his/her individual language learning
9. search, collect and process information from a wide range of paper-based and electronic resources to develop his/her language skills

Learning objectives for the 3rd cycle (S6-S7)
By the end of the third cycle, the student should be able to
1. understand the main points in more complex, but clearly spoken standard speech related to topics of general interest and current affairs
2. read, understand and analyse literary and non-literary texts
3. take part in conversations about topics of general interest and current affairs and express personal opinions with reasonable fluency and spontaneity
4. present clear, detailed descriptions on a wide range of subjects, and give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans
5. write clear, detailed texts, including letters, essays and reports which express points of view or impressions on a wide range of subjects
6. demonstrate insight and deeper understanding of the cultures of the target language including society, current affairs, literature and its context, and the arts in general
7. utilise a range of intercultural codes to respond to cultural stereotyping
8. take increasing responsibility for his/her own language learning
9. critically evaluate available resources and select those most reliable and suitable for given purposes and audiences

5. Contents:

Cycle 1 (S1-S3)
By the end of cycle 1 the student should have acquired
- a basic knowledge of pronunciation, intonation and spelling rules
- a knowledge of simple vocabulary and idiomatic phrases
- a knowledge of word patterns and simple grammatical structures
- a basic knowledge of how to use dictionaries and other resources including ICT
- awareness of the culture of target language countries/communities
- some knowledge of basic language learning strategies including an awareness of their own progress

Cycle 2 (S4-S5)
Building on the knowledge and skills already gained in cycle 1 the students should, by the end of cycle 2, have acquired
- a good knowledge of pronunciation and intonation, and consolidated spelling rules
- an extended range of vocabulary and idiomatic phrases
- an extended range of word patterns and grammatical structures
- knowledge of how to engage in research using a range of resources including ICT, with support where necessary
- some knowledge of the culture of target language countries/communities with some exposure to literary texts
- a range of language learning strategies and tools to evaluate their own learning
Cycle 3 (S6-S7)
Building on the knowledge and skills already gained in cycle 2, the student should, by the end of cycle 3, have acquired
- knowledge of different registers of language for diverse audiences and purposes
- a wide range of vocabulary including that related to abstract concepts
- a range of complex grammatical structures
- strategies for independent research using a range of resources including ICT
- insight into the culture of target language countries/communities including the study of literary texts
- independent learning strategies and an ability to evaluate his/her own learning

6. Assessment:

Cycle 1 (S1 - S3)
A) Formative assessment
The assessment should be mainly formative. By means of teacher observation, tests and self-assessment the students acquire an awareness of their level and their progress throughout the course. The basis of the assessment should be the learning objectives for the cycle. Use could be made of the self-assessment grids in the CEFR and of the European Language Portfolios.

Cycle 2 (S4 - S5)
A) Formative assessment
The assessment should be mainly formative. By means of an initial assessment, teacher observation, tests and self-assessment the students acquire an awareness of their level and their progress throughout the course. The basis of the assessment should be the learning objectives for the cycle. Use could be made of the self-assessment grids in the CEFR and of the European Language Portfolios.

B) Summative assessment
At the end of the cycle there will be a harmonised examination in listening, reading, spoken interaction, spoken production and writing.

Cycle 3 (S6 - S7)
A) Formative assessment
The assessment should be mainly formative. By means of an initial assessment, teacher observation, tests and self-assessment the students acquire an awareness of their level and their progress throughout the course. The basis of the assessment should be the learning objectives for the cycle. Use could be made of the self-assessment grids in the CEFR and of the European Language Portfolios.

B) Summative assessment
At the end of the cycle a written and oral examination will assess listening, reading, spoken interaction, spoken production and writing.

Assessment criteria
The final examinations assess the extent to which the students have attained the learning objectives for the cycle.

The examinations assess the students’ ability to present a theme in the target language, to draw out the main points, analyse its contents and to express a point of view. The student should make reference as appropriate, to relevant aspects of the target culture, literature, history and society, and show proficiency in morphology, syntax, vocabulary and idiom. Listening skills, spoken interaction and spoken production will be assessed in the target language.

Teachers will be provided with marking grids in order to arrive at an overall mark.
ANNEX: COMMENTARIES

The following section comments on some parts of the syllabus where clarification is necessary. Quotations from the syllabus are in bold and in italics.

a) Didactic principles

The skills of listening, reading, spoken interaction, spoken production and writing should have their place, but their relative weighting depends on the cycle.

In the first cycle the main focus will be on listening, reading and spoken interaction, while spoken production and writing shall have less weighting.

The second cycle is an intermediate cycle where spoken production will play an increasing role and dialogue shall have less weighting. The same will apply to the skill of writing which will be a main learning objective.

In the third cycle the focus will be on writing and spoken production, while maintaining the skills of listening, reading and spoken interaction.

Students should be encouraged to draw on their existing language skills and learning strategies.

When learning a third language, recourse to existing language skills can be of great benefit to students’ learning strategies (tertiary language effect) and making use of them should be encouraged.

Reflective use of language, comparative observations and awareness of general language-learning skills can greatly improve language acquisition.

Students’ varied learning styles, pace of learning, social skills, strengths and weaknesses should also be used to best advantage.

Learning styles include various approaches or ways of learning which help the individual student to learn best.

Students’ learning styles and strengths (visual, auditory etc) are linked to different intelligences (linguistic, logical, musical, etc).

Teachers should adapt their teaching methodologies to suit the needs and the different learning styles of their students. The more aware teachers are of these, the more effective the learning outcomes will be.

A variety of teaching methods and approaches should be used.

It is very important to employ a variety of teaching methodologies. For example the use of active-learning tasks such as pair and group work, project work, role play, portfolios etc can prove to be effective learning tools.

The use of differentiated teaching methodologies is encouraged in order to meet the diverse needs of all students.

Heterogeneity is a specific characteristic of L III because in many cases not all students are “ab initio” students. This requires a differentiated approach. The introduction of differentiation can provide a framework which will address individual students’ needs.

Learning objectives or goals can be worked upon at different levels.

Differentiation can be introduced in teaching and learning strategies and in the level of difficulty of chosen texts or tasks by taking account of the learner’s ability, interests, learning styles and preferences, and employing a variety of teaching methods.

A good command of the language in context presupposes a progressively constructed understanding of the language as a system.

Foreign language learning is based on a communicative and action-oriented approach. Therefore the context plays an important role. Vocabulary and idioms should be presented in contextual situations and developed in a systematic way. It is important to take into account at all learning stages that students need to approach the target language through progressive steps and that mistakes are used constructively to develop learning. However, correct use of language should be pursued to a reasonable degree.

Students’ sociolinguistic competence should be developed to include awareness of aspects such as linguistic register, language varieties, etc.

Sociolinguistic competence is the ability to recognise and to interpret the social meaning of linguistic varieties (registers, styles, dialects, etc.), to use language with the appropriate social meaning for the communication situation and to make an active contribution to the development of conversations.

Examples: to be aware of the differences between formal and informal situations, to recognize ways of greeting people, to know when and how to give compliments to others, to apologize, or to accept and refuse invitations, etc.

b) Learning objectives

Cycle 2+3: intercultural codes

For the second cycle students should be able to know and use basic intercultural codes to interact appropriately with speakers of the target language.

For the third cycle students should be able to utilise a range of intercultural codes to respond to cultural stereotyping.

The starting point for intercultural understanding and an awareness of intercultural codes is good knowledge of the areas which produce cultural differences: social rules, historic symbols, myths, humour, way of life, customs, religion, etc.

The more aware students are of cultural differences the less likelihood there is that they will come to wrong conclusions or behave inappropriately.

Cycle 2+3: choose effective strategies to organise his/her language learning and take increasing responsibility for his/her language learning

One of the aims of this syllabus is to encourage learners to take more responsibility for their own learning and to gather information about the learning processes. Students will develop an understanding about how to go about learning another language. In order to encourage students to become active, autonomous and reflective learners they should develop strategies for effective language learning. For example, simply by sharing learning objectives with students at the beginning of each lesson and encouraging them to use a learning diary, teachers can help students to evaluate their own learning. The use of tools, such as ‘can-do’ statements or the European Language Portfolio, enables students to identify realistic personal learning goals.

Cycle 3: read, understand and analyse literary and non-literary texts

Students should have the skills to be able to read, understand and analyse texts of the various literary genres as well as non-literary genres such as newspaper articles, letters to the editor, debates, etc.

In this context analysis means the ability to express and explain the main messages of the text, with the help of basic technical terms where necessary.

c) Contents

vocabulary and idiomatic phrases

In each cycle the vocabulary should enable the students to meet the learning objectives for the five skills (see learning objectives 1-5).

For example in the first cycle the students should understand familiar words and phrases related to areas of immediate personal relevance and experience…

The knowledge of day to day expressions will help students to use the target language spontaneously in the first cycle.

word pattern and simple grammatical structures

Priority should be given to language usage and functionality when it comes to teaching grammar. The study of specific language structures should be integrated into communicative activities and situations. The necessary grammatical structures should be developed and increased steadily over the three cycles.
Knowledge of relevant grammatical structures and word patterns should be developed according to the learning objectives of each cycle.
For example:
In the first cycle in order to take part in simple conversations it is necessary for the student to know common conversational phrases and to have some knowledge not only of present, but of past and future verbs. There is no need for the student to know all forms of such verbs at this stage.
In the third cycle in order to be able to write and present clear, detailed description and texts or to explain personal opinions students need a range of complex grammatical structures.

The culture of the target language countries
Cycle 1: awareness of the culture of the target language countries/communities
The use of short authentic material, such as poems, short news items, comics, magazines, fairy tales, adapted versions of short stories, etc. is encouraged. In this context the use of ICT can be of particular benefit.
Cycle 2: some knowledge of the culture of the target language countries/communities with some exposure to literary texts.
Students should have access to a range of literary and non-literary texts and materials, such as short stories, poems and newspaper articles, etc.
Cycle 3: insight into the culture of the target language countries/communities including the study of literary texts.
Students should study examples from the various literary genres as well as non-literary genres. Two complete works of literature should be read in their original form.

d) Assessment
The final examinations assess the extent to which the students have attained the learning objectives for the cycle.
Teachers should use the learning objectives as the basis for assessment of students.

Use of self-assessment grids in the CEFR and European Language Portfolios
Self-assessment is a useful tool to increase students’ motivation and awareness of the learning processes. It helps the learner to discover his/her strengths and weaknesses and to organise his/he learning more effectively.
In the European Language Portfolios and the CEFL, self-assessment grids (“Can-do” statements) are introduced as an effective supplementary tool for the language learner.
A harmonized syllabus for all LIII languages was introduced in the school year 2012-2013. The first LIII BAC will take place in 2015. As a result a new L III examination format is required. The new syllabus describes the learning objectives in terms of competences for listening, reading, oral presentation and interaction, writing and is based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. It also refers to “learning to learn” strategies, study skills and cultural competences.

1. BAC WRITTEN EXAM.

The final exam should reflect these competences in a representative way. The written exam will mainly assess the students' reading, writing and literary understanding. These competences will include cultural knowledge. They will be assessed in line with the communicative and competence-based approach on which the syllabus is based (authentic texts, functional and authentic tasks, tasks set in context). The written exam will consist of three parts:

Part 1: reading comprehension
Part 2: written production
Part 3: understanding literature

Reading comprehension:
The learning objectives define the reading skills at the end of cycle 3. The pupils should be able to read, understand and analyse literary and non-literary texts. In this context analyse means the ability to express the main messages of the text, with the help of basic technical terms, where necessary (see: Syllabus for all L III Languages, annex: commentaries).

A variety of non-fictional texts may be used: newspaper articles, magazine articles, user manuals, brochures, travel guides, prospectuses, forms and questionnaires, formal letters, advertising material, letters, essays, databases, public announcements, public speeches, lectures, etc.

These can include pictures, photos, statistics, graphics, etc.

Reading comprehension is assessed by a variety of tasks: multiple choice questions; right/wrong statements; complete the sentence, matching exercises, short answer questions, rewriting the text, complete the text, etc.

Written production:
At the end of cycle 3 the pupils should be able to write clear, detailed texts, including letters, essays and reports which express points of view or impressions on a wide range of subjects (see Syllabus for all L III languages, Learning Objectives).

To assess their writing skills, the pupils complete a functional task (commentary, newspaper article, official letter etc.) and a creative task (short story, dialogue, personal journal, poem, etc.) The assessment is based on the following criteria: task achievement, organisation, lexical and structural range, lexical and structural accuracy.
Understanding literature:

Understanding literature refers to the general objective of reading skills: Students should study examples from the various literary genres as well as non-literary genres. Two complete works of literature should be read in their original form (see Syllabus for all L III Languages, annex: commentaries).

There will be two set books, one in year 6 and one in year 7.
To assess their understanding of, and personal response to, the set books pupils will write an essay, analysis or review. Pupils may choose to answer a question on one or other of the two set books.

Model for the written exam

Time allocation: 3 hours

<table>
<thead>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The three parts of the written exam will have equal weighting.

2. BAC ORAL EXAM

In L III the pupils can opt to take the written or oral BAC exam.
As the oral is an alternative for the written, it should assess the same competences as the written, except for the written skills being replaced by interaction and presenting skills. However, just as in the written exam, both reading skills and understanding literature are assessed.
During the exam, the pupils demonstrate their comprehension of an unseen non-literary text, show their understanding of and personal response to one of the set books and engage in a guided conversation.
The pupils’ competences are assessed according to the following criteria: content, communicative effectiveness, accuracy and fluency.
At the end of cycle 3 pupils are able to take part in conversations about topics of general interest and current affairs and express personal opinions with reasonable fluency and spontaneity, present clear, detailed descriptions on a wide range of subjects, and give reasons and explanations for opinions and plans.
In order to do so they should be able to understand the main points in more complex, but clearly spoken standard speech related to topics of general interest and current affairs (see Syllabus for all L III languages, Learning objectives).
The oral exam will consist of three parts:
Part 1: reading comprehension
Part 2: oral interaction
Part 3: understanding literature

Model for the oral exam
Preparation time: 20 minutes
The pupil draws a text from a variety of unseen non-fictional texts for reading and studies the text.
Time allocation for the oral exam: 20 minutes
Both examiners participate actively in the exam.

Comment on part 2 text production:

For each task this evaluation sheet will be used.
The overall points for the written production consists of the average of the two writing tasks.
Annex 2

Commentaries on the assessment grid for the written BAC exams

The assessment grid refers to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR, 2001) and is used for the assessment of the written BAC exams in L III at level B1+.

PART 1 READING COMPREHENSION
The weighting is determined by the allocation of marks.
Accuracy of language is not assessed.

PART 2 WRITTEN PRODUCTION
The assessment grid takes into account four separate criteria: content, organization, accuracy and style

1. Content
• requirements of task fulfilled
This criterion takes into account to what extent the student fulfills the requirements of the task.
• coherence/development of thoughts/ideas
“coherence” in this context means the logical development of ideas.

2. Organization
This criterion takes into account
• structure of text (e.g. beginning-body-ending)
• cohesion between sentences and paragraphs
• conventions of text type: target audience, layout

3. Accuracy
This criterion assesses the correct use of language (morphology and syntax, vocabulary and spelling).

4. Style
This criterion assesses
• the range and variety of vocabulary and structures
• readability and fluidity of expression

PART 3 UNDERSTANDING LITERATURE
The assessment grid takes into account three separate criteria: content, personal response and writing

1. Content
• requirements of task fulfilled
This criterion takes into account the extent to which the student fulfills the requirements of the task.
Knowledge of content
• an overview of the main themes, principal characters and development of the plot.

2. Personal response
The student shows, and can give reasons for, his/her insight into and personal response to the literary text.
3. Writing
This criterion assesses the appropriate application of language (grammar, vocabulary, spelling) in relation to the tasks.

It is recommended that this assessment grid be used for the assessment of all written production exercises in order to familiarise students with the assessment criteria.

DOLLARS FOR SCHOLARS

I
Paying kids for good grades is a popular (if questionable) parenting tactic. But when school starts next week, New York City (NYC) will try to use this type of enticement to get parents in low-income neighbourhoods more involved in their children’s education.

II
The experimental programme, called Opportunity NYC, is modelled on a 10-year-old Mexican programme called Oportunidades, which has been so successful in reducing poverty in rural areas that it has been adopted by more than 20 countries. International studies have found that these programmes raise school enrolment and lower the number of sick days students take.

III
Bringing this idea to Harlem and the South Bronx may not make a radical difference, concedes Linda Gibbs, the deputy mayor for Health and Human Services. But, she adds, “It makes education matter in a new way.” Schools chancellor Joel Klein hopes that the money will get students more interested in performing well at school, and that the positive reinforcement they receive will get them excited about learning.

IV
The idea behind Opportunity NYC is called conditional cash transfer, and the programme is the first of its kind in this country. In order to find out whether this works, the city is enlisting 5,000 families to take part in the social experiment. They are being chosen randomly from lists of people needing housing assistance from the city. Some of the participants will come from East New York, a predominantly black and Hispanic corner of Brooklyn where half of the residents live below the poverty level and only half of all adults are high school graduates.

V
Since the initial announcement in March, conservatives have denounced the programme as a waste of money, while liberals have called the idea insulting and patronizing to the people it aims to help. One potential foe, Randi Weingarten, president of the United Federation of Teachers, says she generally opposes any pay for good behaviour, but if it can help families who live in the city’s poorest neighbourhoods, it may be a risk worth taking.

THE LONG ISLAND RAILROAD

I
The Long Island Railroad’s etiquette bully has walked again. John Clifford, notorious for loudly and aggressively harassing fellow travellers to make them behave better, was acquitted of assault, disorderly conduct and other charges. Judge Larry Stephen of Manhattan Criminal Court said most of the witnesses had “an axe to grind” or had other issues, and threw the case out.

II
And so Mr Clifford, despite years of complaints, arrests and summonses, none of which have stuck, is free to keep doing what he does: abusing fellow commuters in the name of peace, quiet and civility.

III
“Do I admit to being domineering?” he said in court. “Yeah.” Actually, he admits a lot worse: pouring coffee on people, cursing and berating them, slapping them for talking too loudly on cell phones and other sins.

IV
He is a large (6-foot-4) former police officer, so it is easy to see why someone might be frightened when he comes after them, especially when he says, as he did to Donna Curtis, that he knows their names and where they live, and that “I can make your life hell.”

V
It is true that many people have forgotten how to interact respectfully with strangers and carry their selfish behaviour into public places. On commuter trains, where random strangers are forced to tolerate one another in close quarters for long stretches, cell phone jabberers are a particularly obnoxious life-form. None of this excuses Mr Clifford’s behaviour.

VI
The railway needs to do a lot more to instil a culture of decency and respect on board its trains. Whether this means adding “quiet cars,” where cell phones are forbidden, or enforcing existing rules about loud conversations, feet on the seats and eating, it is important.

VII
The judicial system also needs to recognize that harassing and threatening behaviour like that repeatedly displayed by Mr Clifford is not only wrong, it could be downright dangerous.

(New York Times 2008)
1 Why was Mr Clifford appearing in court? (Circle one letter, A, B, C or D.)

A He had attacked someone with an axe.
B He was talking too loudly on his mobile phone in a ‘quiet car’ of a train.
C He behaved aggressively towards fellow passengers.
D He threatened a police officer.

2 Which argument did the judge give for throwing out the case against Mr Clifford? (Circle one letter.)

He found that:
A Clifford promised to act more sensibly the next time he travelled by train.
B People gave evidence against Clifford for the wrong reasons.
C Clifford was only doing his job.
D The railway company should have protected passengers from troublemakers like Clifford.

3 Why does Mr Clifford keep on “doing what he does” according to the writer? (Circle one letter.)

A He has an illness that makes him act aggressively towards strangers.
B He is angry because the Railroad Authority has ignored his complaints.
C He refuses to accept that the use of mobile phones is restricted.
D He wants to force other travellers to behave correctly.

4 What is the main function of paragraphs III and IV? (Circle one letter.)

A To give more details about what Clifford does to other train passengers.
B To make clear that Clifford’s actions anger fellow travellers.
C To minimise the fuss made about Clifford’s actions.
D To show that Clifford’s former job has caused his present behaviour.

5 In paragraphs V and VI, the author shows some understanding of why Clifford acts the way he does. Write down three examples of things that can irritate travellers according to the text.

(i) ________________________________________________________________
(ii) ________________________________________________________________
(iii) ________________________________________________________________
Judging from the article as a whole, which of the following expresses the writer’s opinion on the Clifford case? (Circle one letter.)

A He believes the judge may have taken too great a risk in releasing Clifford from prison.
B He feels Clifford has the right to correct people when they misbehave.
C He is convinced that Clifford’s fellow travellers deliberately tried to make him lose his temper.
D He thinks that Clifford should not be allowed to take the law into his own hands.

Which of the following alternative titles would suit this text? (Circle one letter.)

A Police Officer Arrested for Bad Behaviour
B An Unusual Dictator
C Hooliganism on the Railroad
D Judge Larry Grinds an Axe

Die Toten Hosen: Weltmeister (Liedtext)

Man müsste _______________ jetzt dauernd lustig sein, wo doch immer so viele stöhnen.
Allein schon um zu zeigen, ich bin auf _______________ Fall einer von denen.

Die Deutschen sind depressiv. Was ist bloß schief gelaufen,
Dass soviele Menschen hier Musik von Grönemeyer kaufen?
Die Jugend ist scheinbar verblödet, die Lehrer sind ausgebrannt
Wie konnte das nur _______________ im Dichter- und Denkerland?

Und wir fragen uns, was die Zukunft bringt,
Und die Antwort kennt nur der Wind.
______________ wir sind sicher, es wird aufwärts gehen,
Wenn wir erst wieder Weltmeister sind.

Wir werden Weltmeister sein ...

Und die geistig-moralische Wende, die wir damals herbeiriefen -
Der Geist und die Moral sind weg, nur die Schulden sind geblieben
Und alle stehen da und fragen sich wo die fetten Jahre _______________ sind.
Wir sind sicher, es wird aufwärts gehen, wenn wir erst wieder Weltmeister sind.
Wir werden Weltmeister sein ...

Jetzt kommt’s auf jeden einzelnen von uns an, damit die _______________ wieder funtioniert
Wir dürfen beim Elfmeterschießen jetzt nicht die Nerven verlieren!
Und wir fragen uns, wie das Spiel _______________
(und) die Antwort kennt nur der Wind.
Wir werden fair zu den _______________ sein

Exercice A

Aujourd’hui, le téléphone et les adolescents.

Des médecins travaillant pour l’ASEF\(^1\) ont réalisé dans les lycées de Provence une campagne sur les risques liés à la téléphonie mobile. Des questionnaires ont été remplis par les élèves, dont voici quelques résultats.

Premier constat : les utilisateurs commencent très jeunes.

Plus des trois quarts ont eu leur premier téléphone avant 14 ans. Un tiers l’ont même eu avant l’âge de 10 ans. Nous pressentions déjà cette tendance, mais cela nous a permis de mesurer l’urgence ! Des études ont montré que plus les utilisateurs sont jeunes, plus les ondes pénètrent loin dans le cerveau.

Deuxième constat : les jeunes sont de très gros consommateurs.

La quasi-totalité (85%) préfèrent envoyer des messages plutôt que de passer des appels. Malgré cela, ils passent beaucoup de temps au téléphone, et sans utiliser de kit main libre ! Seulement 20% en utilisent un. De nombreux lycéens ne savaient pas ce qu’était un kit main libre... Difficile alors de l’utiliser !

Troisième constat : les jeunes sont « scotchés » à leur mobile.

Les trois quarts dorment avec leur téléphone allumé sous l’oreiller (ils s’en servent de réveil) et le gardent précieusement dans la poche (ou dans le soutien-gorge !) toute la journée.

\(^1\) Association Santé Environnement France.
Mais pourquoi y sont-ils si attachés ? Seulement 18% s’en servent pour appeler !

Quatrième constat : une méconnaissance des mesures de protection.
Beaucoup ont entendu parler des risques sanitaires du téléphone portable (72%). Cependant, quand on regarde de plus près, on remarque que seule la moitié sait comment se protéger.
Les lycéens sont-ils prêts à changer de comportement ? Les réponses sont plutôt encourageantes ! En effet, après nos conférences, 81% des participants se disaient prêts à modifier leur façon de téléphoner, et 69% comptaient parler des risques sanitaires à leur entourage.

Mais dans les faits sont-ils prêts à changer ? Parmi les six conseils que nous leur avons proposés, nous avons demandé à ceux qui souhaitaient changer de choisir les conseils qu’ils seraient prêts à appliquer.

«Utiliser le kit main libre» arrive en première position avec 82%, suivi de près par «Favoriser les SMS» avec 79%. Viennent ensuite «Ne pas dormir avec son téléphone avec 50%.

Plus de 20 millions d'adultes ont un poids excessif

Depuis douze ans, leur proportion dans la population générale s'est élevée régulièrement, de 8,5 % à 14,5 %. Et les obésités\(^2\) apparaissent de plus en plus tôt, elles sont de plus en plus marquées. La fréquence des obésités sévères (indice de masse corporelle supérieur à 35), les plus à risques sur le plan médical, est passée de 1,5 % en 1997 à 3,9 % cette année.

L'obésité est loin d'être répartie équitablement. Les femmes sont sensiblement plus touchées (15,1 %) que les hommes (13,9 %). La progression est plus importante chez les premières, particulièrement pour les formes les plus sévères : cela pourrait s'expliquer par « une plus grande propension des femmes à développer de la masse grasse ». Autre facteur d'inégalité : l'origine géographique. Dans la région Nord, qui détient le record national, un adulte sur cinq est obèse. Mais, comme l'ont montré d'autres enquêtes, le niveau socio-économique joue aussi un rôle majeur : les chiffres sont édifiants : en 2009, le taux d'obésité est de 22 % (7 % de plus que la moyenne nationale) là où le revenu du foyer est inférieur à 900 euros mensuels. Un tel bilan remet-il en cause l'efficacité des campagnes de santé publique menées depuis dix ans en France ?

« Condamner la prévention avec aussi peu de recul serait une erreur », rappelle le Pr Basdevant. Mais les messages nutritionnels ne suffisent plus : il faut aussi rendre les fruits et légumes réellement plus abordables économiquement, mener une politique urbaine qui incite à l'activité physique, comme le démontre l'exemple du Vélib\(^1\)*. Examples for the BAC oral exams, part 2 interaction

Pupils’ oral skills are assessed by a short conversation on topics of general and personal interest. During the conversation the pupil describes, expresses his opinions, his likes and dislikes, gives explanations, reasons etc. (based on the learning objectives in year 6+7).

A visual stimulus should be used. It is meant to be just a starting point for the conversation. Topics can be taken from the following domains, but this list is not exhaustive.

Example 1  Conversation about sports/hobbies

Two pictures: one of a team sport and one of an individual sport or hobby.

1. Instructions for the student
   You will have a conversation about sports/hobbies that will last about 5 minutes.

2. Instructions for the examiner(s)
   You could ask the following questions:
   - Are you doing a team sport or an individual sport or do you have another hobby? Tell me about it.
   - Why did you choose for this sport or hobby?
   - Which other sport or hobby would you like to learn? Why?
   - Etc.

Example 2  Conversation about studies

One picture of a class at the university (or something similar)

1. Instructions for the student
   You will have a conversation about your studies that will last about 5 minutes.

2. Instructions for the examiner(s)
   You could ask the following questions:

   - Do you already know if and what you are going to study? Tell me about it.
   - Where would you like to study? Why did you choose this place?
   - What would you like to do with your diploma later on? What kind of job would you like to do?
   - Etc.
